WORKSHOP AGENDA

TIME: TOPICS:

09:00 – 10:30 Mastering the Art of Stress-Free Productivity {Workshop}

The world does not present itself to us in a pretty, neat, structured package. We have to implement specific best personal practices to create our own experience of control and focus, in order to surf on top of it instead of drowning underneath it.

In this workshop, David explains why we need mental space, not time, in order to be creative, strategic, and optimally ready for the changes coming evermore rapidly in our global, always-on environments. He provides a simple but comprehensive blueprint to create and maintain that space, no matter what is happening in our personal and professional lives. He explains why that is the most productive state from which to operate.

10:30 – 11:00 MORNING TEA

11:00 – 12:00 Mastering the Art of Stress-Free Productivity {Q&A}

David Allen answers your questions.

12:00 – 13:00 LUNCH

13:00 – 15:00 Mastering the Art of Stress-Free Productivity {Workshop}

David shares in greater detail the specific techniques, tools and productive practices that he has recognised and formulated from his thirty-seven years of consulting, coaching and training in this arena.

David provides:

- A delineation of the six levels of commitments we all have – our Horizons of Focus
- Techniques for clarifying and utilising appropriate maps of those commitments to keep ourselves aligned and oriented
- An opportunity to take a test-drive with a key horizon of yours
- How to align the elements of your life and work to feel the most comfortable about your priorities

David will also guide delegates through some simple and fun processes to elucidate the power of these techniques, and give advice for implementing a plan forward.
